

PRESS RELEASE

For immediate release

Festival d'été de Québec is launching its podcast series Chambre 1626, a delight for your ears!

Québec, November 1, 2018 – With autumn in full swing and winter drawing near, it's time to add new podcasts to your playlist! Festival d'été de Québec together with Agence La Flèche present Chambre 1626, a series of spontaneous conversations between renowned Canadian Interviewer and music lover Geneviève Borne, and 9 artists who played at the Festival d'été in July 2018.

Recorded for the most part in room 1626 at Hilton Québec, these exclusive interviews conducted in an intimate setting often result in unexpected dialogues, surprising revelations, spicy anecdotes and many moments that are sometimes funny, sometimes serious, but always captivating. A selection of various artists, as diverse as the FEQ program, sat down to chat with Geneviève, a long-time friend of the FEQ. The podcast series Chambre 1626 is being launched this November 1st with the release of 3 interviews. The FEQ will then release one interview every week until mid-December as per the following schedule:

- November 1: Machine Gun Kelly, Jain (French) and Hubert Lenoir (French)
- Week of November 4: Greta Van Fleet
- Week of November 11: Pierre Lapointe (French)
- Week of November 18: The Skatalites
- Week of November 25: Phoenix (French)
- Week of December 2: Oh Wonder
- Week of December 9: Klô Plegag (French)

You can access the podcasts here: <https://www.feq.ca/en/FEQ/Chambre-1626> or download them via our Soundcloud page. Also available on iTunes and Google Play. The best way to experience the FEQ all year long!

Festival d'été de Québec is presented by Bell in collaboration with Coors Light.
The 52nd edition of the FEQ will take place from July 4 to 14, 2019.
